Steeped in history, culture and talent, Pictou County has plenty to offer those who might make the voyage, and to local residents just the same.

The birthplace of Nova Scotia, the new Scotland, we are deeply rooted in Scottish history & tradition, with some great foods and welcoming, friendly personalities, that proudly share with all those who come upon us.

PictouCounty.ca is aimed towards being for the people of our community, rather than simply being another statistical information website, like so many others out there.

As much a social outlet, as it will be an information resource, it will allow visitors to dive into a vast resource of content on our culture, our history, what we have to offer, as well as allowing them to interact with us.
